CAREER HISTORY

1983 – Present Thompson's of Prudhoe

Started working for W & M Thompson (Earthworks) Ltd. almost straight from School. Spent the first couple of years setting up a costing system, which was then hand written and still used to day, though it is now fully computerised.

During this time I also gained experience on sites in all aspects of earthworks engineering and survey measurement. The job continued to evolve and I added the production of valuations and measured claims to customers, following through to payment.

In 1991 a computer based surveying system was introduced into the Company, which was to enable us to produce more information for the customer in production of valuations and measured claims. I was responsible for the correct use of this equipment until 1995 when I trained an assistant engineer in the use of this equipment.

THOMPSONS OF PRUDHOE

We continued to expand as a Company and I became directly responsible not only for the production of Earthworks measure and valuations but also for valuations and invoices to customers on the demolition side of the business following the retirement of our then demolition manager in the early 1990's.

I am now responsible for the operation of the CIS tax system operated within the Company, paying subcontractors and making sure their claims are correct. I also deal with all aspects of our Public Liability and Employers Liability Insurance policies. I am also responsible for the correct payment of Royalties due from our quarrying operations at both our Bishop Middleham and Silvertop Quarries.
